Upcoming school rezoning

The Alachua County School Board is planning a district-wide, comprehensive rezone for all school levels in the next few years. This means that many families in Alachua County may be zoned for a school that is different from the school your child is currently attending.

Our countywide PTA (Alachua County Council of PTAs) is conducting a survey* to learn how families feel about school. Responses are anonymous and confidential.

*This survey is not affiliated with the Alachua County School District, although the summary results will be shared with the district staff and School Board.
